The Ulysses scheme fosters new and innovative collaborations between Irish- and French-based researchers across all disciplines, by providing seed funding for reciprocal travel visits over the course of 24 months. The Irish Research Council (IRC) and the Embassy of France in Ireland are committed to supporting continued knowledge exchange between Irish and French researchers through appropriate forms of collaboration. The Ulysses Scheme includes co-funding collaborations with EirGrid in partnership with Réseau de Transport d'Électricité, Sustainable Energy Authority of Ireland in partnership with ADEME and Geological Survey Ireland in partnership with the French Embassy in Ireland. The collaboration between the IRC and these co-funders is based on alignments to research topics of particular significance to the co-funders' research objectives.

Following the submission of proposals, the IRC will reach agreement with the co-funders on which proposals may be supported through the partnerships. All applications that potentially align to the research topics outlined by the co-funders will be considered for support under these partnerships. There is no requirement for applicants to indicate specifically that funding through a partnership is sought. Partnership and non-partnership applications to this call will be treated the same with respect to the review process. Please note the main strand of funded projects consists of projects cofounded by the IRC and the French Embassy in Ireland.
